

LRS® IT Solutions Technical Services – Transfer and Laboratory

Many Options, One Partner

IT departments are busy; sometimes too busy. During those too-busy times, wouldn't it be nice to have additional resources without the burden of adding full-time employees who you may not need indefinitely? The need for additional, short-term resources can be the result of numerous scenarios: perhaps your IT department needs additional staff for short term projects; maybe your organization has an immediate need to bring a new solution online quickly; what about the times you need assistance with general upkeep of your IT business systems?; or possibly you require extra staff to assist with disaster recovery services in the short term.

LRS® IT Solutions offers distinct technical services to support your IT needs on a limited or, in some cases, ongoing basis. Let us provide your organization with our highly skilled, professional IT services and IBM certified consultants that can enhance your operation and provide you with the resources you need to help with those extra projects and busy periods.

LRS Skills Transfer and Laboratory Services

LRS can provide key members of your staff with hands-on training for the following technology systems:

- Tivoli Storage Manager
- AIX v5.3 Virtual I/O
- VMware Products

LRS, using our certified consultants and our laboratory environment, can assist your team with learning how to best use this technology in your environment. The skill transfer services lab work is a four and a half day engagement for up to two people from your staff.
